

Educational Philosophy

Gerard Auriemma

My philosophy in education is to provide each of my students with a safe, nurturing, and comfortable learning environment each day. I want my students to learn to grow both as learners and as human beings. that will grow up to be healthy well-rounded adults. To help ensure both of those things happen I encourage and support student learning at all levels and like to incorporate (within reason) into my teaching things that the children enjoy such as music, television, games and toys. I believe that including things they enjoy, it helps the students enjoy learning a little better. I also like for my students to be in to know that they are respected and loved!

I believe strongly in the T.E.A.M. acronym which stands for Together Everyone Achieves More. I believe that when the teacher and the students work together as a team than both are able to learn at their highest level. The love I have for teaching the future leaders of our world will show every day throughout lessons and throughout my love for God and the church. Our job as the adults in the students' lives is to make sure the students know and understand that they are loved and cared for by us and by our good and gracious God.
